The game season 4 episode 9 cast

Pixabay The National Hockey League 2019-2020 season is underway. Each of the 31 teams in the league will play 82 games total during the regular season: 41 games on home ice and 41 on the road. In general, the NHL regular season starts in October and extends to April of the following year, with playoff games taking place during the next two months, ending in the Stanley Cup championships in June. Preseason Games The NHL regular season is preceded by 8-10 exhibition or preseason games to get the players up to opening game readiness. These games are played in late September. This preseason period is important for players not only to get back into game shape, but for coaches to also assess new players on the team, gauge the team's on-ice chemistry, and make any position adjustments before the regular season. Regular Season Games Through the years, the NHL has grown to the current 31 teams playing 82 games. In contrast, during the 1980s, there were 21 teams playing 80 games in the season. As each team goes through the season, they are competing to win their division and advance to the postseason games, otherwise known as the playoffs. There are 15 teams that play in the Western Conference, and 16 teams play in the Eastern Conference. Each team gains points for their wins and ties and, at the end of the regular season, the top eight teams in both conferences based on points accrued advance to the postseason playoff games. All-Star Game Break The NHL All-Star Game is held annually in late January and symbolically is the midseason point for the players, coaches, and team personnel. The All-Star Game is held during a mandatory week in which all the teams are given a bye and have no games scheduled, unless the player is involved in the All-Star Game and its related festivities. Postseason Games Once the 82-game season ends, it's time for the NHL playoffs to begin, with the top 16 teams qualifying. Once a team qualifies for the postseason playoff games, its players will play for at least four more games, and possibly more if they win. In sum, a team could potentially play 28 more games, if each round goes the full seven games in each of the four playoff series The conference-championship winning teams play in the Stanley Cup. The winner of the Stanley Cup series is the champion for that season. MORE FROM REFERENCE.COM Netflix has brought Manifest back from the ether. Many fans predicted that Netflix or NBC would announce Manifest Season 4 news on Aug. 28, known to the fan base as 828 Day. As it turns out, the fans were very right, as Netflix revealed its plans to continue the series. Here's what we know about Manifest Season 4 so far. Melissa Roxburgh as Michaela Stone in 'Manifest' Season 3 | Peter Kramer/NBC Netflix will run 'Manifest' Season 4 as the last season Netflix announced the big news with an 828 Day video on its social media accounts. The clip (below) showed several Manifest characters saying, "828," until an image of the missing plane's tailfin appeared. Text beneath the tailfin read, "Fourth and final season." "Couldn't let a day as significant as today go unclebrated," the caption read. In June, Netflix reportedly considered taking the drama show off NBC's hands after the network decided to cancel. However, the streaming service decided against Manifest Season 4 — at first. Soon after the talks ended, Manifest skyrocketed in popularity, largely due to the first two seasons launching on Netflix. Fans, cast members, and show creator Jeff Rake started a "Save Manifest" movement that lasted the entire summer. Rake has long felt determined to keep Manifest's story going. In March 2021, he told Syfy Wire that he planned to create six seasons. When NBC canceled the series, he considered launching a finale film to wrap up season 3's many loose ends. Fans may not get to see much more of the missing plane drama, but many will likely be relieved to have a nice conclusion in season 4. The main cast is expected to return Couldn't let a day as significant as today go uncelebrated.Manifest will officially return for a super-sized fourth and final season, only on Netflix! pic.twitter.com/HGns7vCvhX— Netflix (@netflix) August 28, 2021 According to Deadline, Netflix will bring many main Manifest cast members back for the final season. Josh Dallas (who plays Ben Stone), Melissa Roxburgh (Michaela Stone), and Parveen Kaur (Saanvi Bahl) have reportedly already closed deals. Meanwhile, J.R. Ramirez (Jared Vasquez), Luna Blaise (Olive Stone), Jack Messina (Cal Stone), and Matt Long (Zeke Landon) are reportedly negotiating. It's worth noting that Long will also be a series regular in NBC's new drama Getaway, so he might have limited participation in Manifest Season 4. Other actors like Holly Taylor (Angelina Meyer), Athena Karkanis (Grace Stone), Daryl Edwards (Vance Jones), and Jared Grimes (Adrian Shannon) played huge roles in season 3, so many fans might like to see them return. 'Manifest' Season 4 will have 20 episodes Deadline also revealed that Manifest Season 4 would contain 20 episodes. However, the season "will be split into multiple parts." On NBC, season 1 contained 16 episodes, while season 2 contained 13 and season 3 contained 12. Rake told the publication that none of this could have happened without Manifest's loyal fans. He said: What started years ago as a flight of fancy deep in my imagination has evolved into the jet engine journey of a lifetime. Never in my wildest dreams could I have envisioned the worldwide outpouring of love and support for this story, its characters, and the team who work so hard to bring it all to life. That we will be able to reward the fans with the ending they deserve moves me to no end. On behalf of the cast, the crew, the writers, directors, and producers, thank you to Netflix, to Warner Bros., and of course to the fans. You did this. Episode 1 Judges The first episode of season 4 was released prior to its January 30 air date to fans of the RuPaul's Drag Race Facebook page. The sneak peek video was released on January 27, but its content was cut short before the runway walk and judging. Thirteen new queens begin their quests for the title of "America's Next Drag Superstar," but first must survive drag zombies and the end of the world. After revealing their post-apocalyptic couture on the runway, Milan, Chad Michaels, Willam, Madame LaQueer, Phi Phi O'Hara, Latrice Royale, and Dida Ritz were called out as safe. RuPaul does stop them momentarily to request they impress her next week before they leave the stage. Sharon Needles, the Princess, and Lashauwn Beyond are praised for their looks. Lashauwn Beyond's outfit is praised, however her personality hinders her from the win, leaving her safe. The Princess's look is praised, however it isn't really post-apocalyptic which leaves her safe. Sharon Needles outfit is heavily praised, leading her to the win. Kenya Michaels' outfit shows no resemblance to anything post-apocalyptic, yet her fierce runway walk and fiery persona saves her from the bottom two. Jiggly Caliente's messy attempt at a sewn outfit lands her in the bottom two alongside Alisa Summers, whose outfit focused far too much on her breastplate for the judges' tastes. After lip- syncing, in which Jiggly Caliente gave a high-energy performance compared to Alisa Summers' more lackadaisical approach, RuPaul sends Alisa Summers home before declaring Jiggly Caliente as safe. Special Guest: Shangela Guest Judges: Cassandra Peterson (Elvira, Mistress of the Dark) and Mike Ruiz Mini-Challenge: Photographer Mike Ruiz shoots the contestants for a "totally toxic" photo spread where they pose on a spinning platform while being sprayed with "hazardous waste". Mini-Challenge Winner: Jiggly Caliente Runway Theme: Apocalyptic Couture Main Challenge: The queens design a post-apocalyptic couture outfit from items looted from drag queen zombies (AKA Queens from previous seasons). Main Challenge Winner: Sharon Needles Main Challenge Prize: A custom designed gown from Sequin Queen and immunity from next week's elimination Bottom Two: Alisa Summers and Jiggly Caliente Lip Sync Song: "Toxic" by Britney Spears Eliminated: Alisa Summers Farewell Message: "Keep it cute ladies! In addition, the teams had to split into binomials: the nice girls, or the Faces, and the bad girls, or the Heels. The girls were also asked to walk the runway in their best "girly-girl" couture. Team Phi Phi Team Willam Team Chad LA's Finest The Bitter Betties DWF'd Thunder Booties The Knockouts Bitch Kickers Phi Phi Fierce Latrice the Beast Willamita Hater Pucker Up Princess Milan the Model Chaderella Chainsaw Michaels Lashauwn the Blonde Killer Kenya Dida Diddles J-Train Jiggly Sharon Shocker Madame LaCrush Team Chad wins the challenge, with Chad Michaels and Madame LaQueer being declared the overall winners, for their portrayal of the "Bitch Kickers". The remaining two teams receive varied amounts of criticism, with Phi Phi, Kenya, and Latrice getting the better of the critiques, leaving them safe. Jiggly is praised for her performance, however, her look is critiqued, but she is safe. It is then revealed Dida, Willam, Lashauwn, and the Princess are the bottom four of the week. The judges thought that Willam's wrestling looked fake, but he is safe. Dida's dress was not appreciated and Billy B. added that she got the "girl that sort of walks around the ring thing", but her wrestling was weak. Lackluster performances by Lashauwn, who seemed not to take the challenge seriously, and the Princess, who didn't step up and tried to act mean, land them in the bottom two. During the lip-sync elimination, Lashauwn commits several drag offences during the routine, most noticeably kicking her heels off at the start of the song. Ultimately, these combined with a fairly pale lip-sync performance which sends her packing, with RuPaul telling The Princess to stay. Guest Judges: Rick Fox and John Salley Wrestling Trainers: "Hollywood's Own" Joey Ryan, Hector "El Chido" Canales and "King of Submissions" Ryan Taylor Mini-Challenge: Split into teams of four and create a "Badonkadonk" with padding in 30 minutes. Mini-Challenge Winners: Chad Michaels, Willam, and Phi Phi O'Hara Main Challenge: Create a wrestling storyline, with "backstage" clips and an entertaining match in the ring. Runway Theme: Girly Girl Couture Main Challenge Winners: Chad Michaels and Madame LaQueer Main Challenge Prize: A selection of wigs from Risqué Wigs Bottom Two: Lashauwn Beyond & The Princess Lip Sync Song: "Bad Girls" by Donna Summer Eliminated: Lashauwn Beyond Farewell Message: "Stay true 2 U + xoxo good luck! -Beyond!" Episode 3: "Glamazons vs. Champions" Episode 3 Judges For this maxi challenge, The queens had to make commercials for RuPaul's albums Glamazon and Champion. The queens were separated into two teams, led by Phi Phi (Team Champion) and Kenya (Team Glamazon) , the mini challenge winners. Team Glamazon Song Team Champion Song Chad Michaels "The Beginning" Dida Ritz "Main Event" Kenya Michaels "Get Your Rebel On" Jiggly Caliente "LadyBoy" Madame LaQueer "Responsitrannity" Latrice Royale "Never Go Home Again" Milan "Superstar" Phi Phi O'Hara "Jealous of My Boogie" The Princess "If I Dream" Sharon Needles "Cover Girl" Willam "Click Clack (Make Dat Money)" During the recording, the Princess forgot her lines several times while Dida tried to get out of her comfort zone but didn't look natural. In the meantime, Sharon Needles had a hard time connecting with the challenge, as she felt Phi Phi was pigeonholing her as a Goth queen. The girls were asked to walk the runway with their "Platinum and Gold" drag looks. Willam, Phi Phi O'Hara, Latrice Royale, Milan, and Jiggly Caliente were declared as safe. During the judges' critiques, Madame LaQueer's outfit was compared to "fungus" by Michelle Visage, who also thought that her infomercial was relying too much on Spanish. Chad Michaels received high appreciations for her look, but was encouraged to get out of her perfection. Kenya's energy and great look also had a good impression on the judges. Sharon Needles' look was praised and RuPaul declares her the winner of this week's challenge. Even though Natalie Cole thought Madame should be in the bottom 2, Dida and the Princess were asked to lip-sync for their lives in response to their fumbling, meek infomercial performances. Dida's high-energy and connection to the song outshined The Princess which led RuPaul to ask her to stay and The Princess to sashay away. Guest Judges: Amber Riley and Natalie Cole Mini-Challenge: Create hats with butterfly-shaped accessories for guest Piya Martell, Internet diva and transgender teen born with Caudal Regression Syndrome. Mini-Challenge Winners: Phi Phi O'Hara, Kenya Michaels, and Jiggly Caliente Main Challenge: Produce and act in TV infomercials for RuPaul's Glamazon and Champion. Runway Theme: Platinum and Gold Main Challenge Winner: Sharon Needles Main Challenge Prize: A custom jewelry set from Fierce Drag Jewels Bottom Two: Dida Ritz & The Princess Lip Sync Song: "This Will Be (An Everlasting Love)" by Natalie Cole Eliminated: The Princess Farewell Message: "This is (only) the beginning ! Much Love - The Princess / I ♥ U DIDA RITZ!" Episode 4: "Queens Behind Bars" Episode 4 Judges At the beginning of the episode, the queens praise Dida's high-energy lip-sync from the previous episode, which Dida said came from anger towards the judges for judging her so harshly. They also discuss the fact that Sharon now has two wins in three episodes. Phi Phi says that she assumed Sharon would win the previous challenge because she gave Sharon "a character that she could excel at," leading to tension between the two later in the episode. For the mini-challenge, the queens are paired up to pose for memorable mug shots, for which they will do each other's makeup while handcuffed together. Willam and Madame LaQueer win the mini-challenge for their creative idea of covering each other with blue paint and saying that they robbed a bank (so they would be covered with a blue dye that is kept in the vaults). For winning, the two become team captains for the main challenge: act in a sitcom ("Hot in Tuckahoe") set in a jail. After appearing in their best red-carpet attire, team Willam is declared the winning team, with Latrice's sassy, hilarious performance earning her the win. Team Madame receives largely negative reviews. Dida's polish is once again admonished, but her performance in the challenge was highly praised, keeping her out of the bottom two. Sharon's attitude during the challenge gets her in trouble, but she is also safe. the judges felt that Kenya was miscast, resulting in an awkward performance. Even so, Kenya is safe. Madame's botched up job as team leader, as well as her sloppy performance, lands her in the bottom two alongside Milan, whom the judges felt wasn't shining through for having an acting background. During the lip sync, Milan splits, death-drops, and rips her dress and wig off. Madame also tears off her wig but she only stands in one single place, not giving the performance the song required, so she sashays away. Team LaQueer Team Willam Madame LaQueer Willam Dida Ritz Jiggly Caliente Sharon Needles Latrice Royale Kenya Michaels Phi Phi O'Hara Milan Chad Michaels Guest Judges: Billy B., Nicole Sullivan and Max Mutchnick Mini-Challenge: In pairs, paint each other's face while handcuffed to one another and post for a mug shot photo shoot. Mugshot Photoshoot Episode 5: "Snatch Game" Episode 5 Judges For the mini-challenge, the contestants participate in a game called "Beat the Cock" (a pun on the game show Beat the Clock). Three contestants compete against one another in three preliminary rounds that lead up to a "cocktacular finale". The winner of the challenge is promised a call home. Each round features some form of innuendo, with chicken entendres and physical dexterity: "Cock-a-Doodle-Ru" (won by Phi Phi), "Pluck-a-Duck" (won by Dida), and "Choke the Rooster" (won by Milan). The final round of Beat the Cockpits Phi Phi, Dida, and Milan in "Lay an Egg," where each queen navigates a wig-head obstacle course while tucking raw eggs between their thighs. Phi Phi succeeds in winning Beat the Cock, though she gives her prize phone-call home to Chad Michaels (who would be celebrating an eight-year anniversary with his boyfriend if he weren't on the show). The main challenge is revealed to be this season's installment of "Snatch Game": a comedic game show in which the episodes' celebrity guest judges star as contestants and the queens impersonate female celebrities of their own choosing. Queen Celebrity Photo Chad Michaels Cher Dida Ritz Wendy Williams Jiggly Caliente Snooki Kenya Michaels Beyoncé Latrice Royale Aretha Franklin Milan Diana Ross Phi Phi O'Hara Lady Gaga Sharon Needles Michelle Visage Willam Jessica Simpson Jiggly, Phi Phi, and Kenya are openly critiqued by Latrice for their "unprofessional" behavior during the Snatch Game. She scolds them for interrupting RuPaul and the tone of their performances; described on Untucked! by Sharon as "nutty" and "way over the top" by Jiggly. On the runway, DiDa, Latrice, and Jiggly are declared safe. Chad Michaels is praised for his giraffe-print outfit and his impersonation of Cher, which is his claim to fame as a drag performer. Though Willam and Sharon also have exceptional performances, Chad is named the winner of the challenge. Phi Phi, Kenya, and Milan are singled out for their poor impersonations of the celebrities they were trying to imitate. Milan also receives criticism for wearing a tuxedo (a la Janelle Monae) as a man in a drag competition - Michelle Visage calls her a "drag king". Kenya's performance as Beyonce is also declared by RuPaul to be very uncomfortable to watch, as it was way over the top and dramatic. Phi Phi is declared safe but Rupaul warns her to bring her A game in the next challenge. Ultimately, Kenya and Milan are placed in the bottom two and both provide energetic renditions of the song, even death-dropping at the same time. Milan's homage to voguing makes him safe and sends Kenya home. Guest Judges: Loretta Devine and Ross Matthews Mini-Challenge: Compete in a game called "Beat the Cock" Mini-Challenge Winner: Phi Phi O'Hara Main Challenge: Celebrity impersonations on the Snatch Game Runway Theme: Best Drag Main Challenge Winner: Chad Michaels Main Challenge Prize: A custom gown by Marco Marco Bottom Two: Kenya Michaels & Milan Lip Sync Song: "Vogue" by Madonna Eliminated: Kenya Michaels Farewell Message: "[…] I'll be waiting for you in my kingdom / Phi Phi - I love you - sisters 4 ever" And... Ru said that Phi Phi's Gaga was more like on the edge of gory. Dida Ritz was called Black Barbie from Patricia Field's show. Episode 6: "Float Your Boat" Episode 6 Judges The queens design ship-shaped floats for a Pride Parade runway extravaganza. One color from the 8-stripe rainbow flag was randomly assigned to each contestant by Willam, who won the wet T-shirt contest mini-challenge. Queen Color Chad Michaels Pink Dida Ritz Red Jiggly Caliente Orange Milan Yellow Sharon Needles Green Latrice Royale Turquoise Willam Indigo Phi Phi O'Hara Violet Jiggly Caliente noticeably slowed the queens on their way to the runway, unready when most of the girls were finished. She also had troubles designing her boat. During the judges' critiques, Latrice's look was praised, especially her rhinestone makeup (called "artwork" by Michelle Visage), as her boat, emanating "chicness" through the eyes of Billy B, but was reprimanded for the boots that she wore too frequently. Chad Michaels' showgirl ensemble was not fashion-forward enough and once again she was critiqued for her wish to be perfect every time. Willam's look and boat were appreciated, while Milan was called vulgar and "dude in a dress". Jiggly Caliente disappointed the judges for her boat which left a sensation of unfinished work, and her cape which hid a swimsuit that the judges liked. Dida's boat was not shining enough while her outfit was more pedestrian than "drag queen". Phi Phi received all -round praise for her boat and her look, receiving a compliment from Billy B. that her makeup has improved dramatically. Willam won the challenge, while Sharon, Chad, Latrice, Phi Phi, and Dida were declared safe, leaving Milan and Jiggly to lip-sync for their lives. Both girls delivered high-energy performances. However, due to committing the drag felony of ripping her wig and outfit off, and also for landing in the bottom two three challenges in a row, Milan was told to sashay away, while Jiggly got to stay for another week. Guest Judges: Billy B., Kelly Osbourne, and Pauley Perrette Mini-Challenge: Gain the biggest crowd reaction in a wet T-shirt contest. The magazines were shared out among the queens by Latrice Royale, who won the mini-challenge. Queen Magazine Topic Chad Michaels Eleganza Fashion Dida Ritz Tastes Like Chicken Food Jiggly Caliente Battle of the Bulge Health & Fitness Latrice Royale What's the T? Celebrity Gossip Phi Phi O'Hara Sashay Away Travel Sharon Needles Kitty Cat Cat Lovers Willam Sugar Walls Home Decor Dida Ritz seems to take her magazine too seriously, while Jiggly Caliente is pushed to do humor by the other contestants and RuPaul himself, but is afraid of not succeeding. During the photo shoot, with Jonathan Clay Harris, Phi Phi O'Hara wants to highlight her sexy side. Willam gets undressed and tries to be funny, putting lampshades over the Pit Crew members' heads. Sharon Needles is aiming to put humor on her cover, donning a Grey Gardens-inspired ensemble. Chad Michaels tried to do an old Hollywood fashion, while Latrice used the Pit Crew. During the judges' critiques on the runway, Chad Michaels' cover was considered to be out of fashion, and Michelle Visage thought that she didn't take enough risks on her runway look. Dida Ritz's cover got some positive critiques, but the judges emphasized that the proportions of her body weren't exploited correctly. Michelle Visage demanded to Sharon Needles to try real glamour, while her cover received positive critiques. Latrice Royale's gown and magazine cover were considered too heavy and lackluster. Jiggly Caliente was criticized for not using humor. Phi Phi's dress was highly praised, considered by the judges as the best she had worn since the beginning of the competition, while her cover was considered fresh and funny. Willam's look was appreciated but her was challenged for his five o'clock shadow, and his diva behavior. Phi Phi is declared the winner of the challenge, earning a cruise. Sharon, Dida, Chad, and Latrice are declared safe, leading to a lip sync between Willam and Jiggly. They both gave a good performance, however, this was Jiggly's third time in the bottom two, and Jiggly was asked to sashay away.
